Guidelines to assist the Health Care Professional in completing this form

The accompanying form is to be completed by an appropriate health care professional who is familiar with your application for Special Consideration and is able to provide an evaluation of the severity of the circumstances that may have caused disadvantage or may have prevented you from attending an examination.

An appropriate professional would include:

- A medical practitioner
- Other health care professional (such as dentist, psychiatrist, psychologist, physiotherapist, chiropractor, or osteopath)
- Registered Counsellor (being a member of at least one of the Australian Psychological Society (APS), the Australian Association of Social Workers (AASW), the Australian Counsellors Association (ACA) or the Psychotherapy and Counselling Federation of Australia (PACFA))

The University does not need to know medical details of the condition that may have impacted on the student’s academic performance but does need appropriate information for the University to make an informed decision about the severity of the condition.

This is a confidential document and the information will only be used in consideration of the application for Special Consideration or Deferral of Examination and will be stored to ensure privacy.

Health Care Professional Certifications which do not contain all of the required information will not be accepted.

Evaluating the severity of disadvantage

Examples of circumstances that may lead to severe, moderate or minor disadvantage to students may include the following:

Severe

- An acute illness or unforeseen event that prevents the student from sitting the exam or seriously hampers their preparation for examination or submitting assignments;
- A serious, ongoing medical condition, including a chronic severe medical condition, psychiatric illness, eating disorder or addiction;
- Death of a relative, friend or family member close to the examination period or assessment deadline;
- Ongoing life-threatening illness of a close family member or partner;

Moderate

- Political unrest in home country and concern for family;
- Financial crises outside the student’s control (eg Asian currency crisis, family bankruptcy);
- Injury to part of the body that does not affect the student’s ability to read, write, study or retain information but may cause pain and discomfort (eg knee injury, broken leg etc);
- Medical condition of a more serious nature that has affected the student’s ability to work for longer than one week;
- Family member or partner with long-term medical condition requiring care or concern, but not life-threatening;

Minor

- Mild illness during the exam period or close to assignment submission dates;
- Death of a distant relative outside the immediate family within one month of the examination period or assessment deadline;
- Relationship breakup during semester but not close to examination period or assessment deadline;
- Family member or partner with a medical condition requiring some care but not life-threatening.

Capacity to sit an exam or study

If students have the physical capacity to sit an exam or study they should do so and then seek special consideration on their performance (which would generally rate as a moderate or minor disadvantage as evaluated by the Health Care Professional).

Unwilling to use University's Health Care Professional Certification

If the appropriate professional is unwilling to use the University’s Health Care Professional Certification form, the University will accept a medical certificate (bearing the Provider/Licence Number and Official Stamp), stating in reasonable detail:

- the dates of any relevant consultations or attendances;
- if relevant, the nature of the complaint and the treatment; and
- a specific statement that in the health care professional’s opinion (not the student’s opinion) that, as a result of the complaint or treatment, the student is, or was, severely, moderately or in a minor way disadvantaged or unfit or unable to undertake the assessment or examination.

Medical certificates which do not contain all this information will not be accepted.
